Eldritch Quiver

wondrous item (bow-mounted quiver), uncommon

This light leather quiver holds up to 6 arrows, and must be installed alongside the handle of a bow. Strapping or unstrappring the quiver to a bow requires 1 action.

Once installed, the quiver and its arrows are considered part of the bow.

The Eldritch Quiver awakens when installed to a bow bonded to an Eldritch Knight (Weapon Bond, PHB 75), causing the eldritch symbols burned in the quiver to animate with a purple hue. While strapped to a bonded bow:

- the Eldritch Knight can use the bow as a spellcasting focus for Eldritch Knight spells;
- the bow now counts as magical for the purpose of overcoming resistance and immunity to nonmagical attacks and damage;
- summoning the bow also summons the Eldritch Quiver and its arrows.

Note to DMs

The Eldritch Quiver is designed to fix some inconvenient aspects of novice Eldritch Knight fighters, but its base realistic functionality can be useful to any bow or crossbow user.

Eldritch Quivers are usually found partially stocked with arrows, some of which possibly even magical (+1, +2, or +3 Ammunition, DMG 150; Arrow of Slaying, DMG 152).

The luckiest adventurers might discover an additional enchantment: one of the quiver's slots always replenishes itself with an arrow, which vanishes 1 round after being taken.

v4 | made by Elhessar, formatted with homebrewery

Quiver of Caesena

wondrous item, very rare (requires attunement)

This light leather quiver holds up to 6 arrows or bolts, and must be installed alongside the handle of a bow or crossbow.

One of the quiver's slots always replenishes itself with a projectile, which vanishes 1 round after being taken.

The Quiver of Caesena awakens when attuned to a character and installed to a weapon, causing the eldritch symbols burned in the leather to animate with a purple hue.

While awakened:

- the weapon can be used as a spellcasting focus for one of the character's spellcasting classes;
- the weapon counts as magical for the purpose of overcoming resistance and immunity to nonmagical attacks and damage;
- the character can't be disarmed of the weapon unless incapacitated;
- as a bonus action, the character attuned to the weapon can summon it to his/her hand, as long as they are on the same plane of existance. The quiver and the ammunition it holds are summoned alongside the weapon.

Note to DMs

The Quiver of Caesena is more powerful and versatile than the Eldritch Quiver, and is suited for any bow or crossbow user.

The Quiver of Caesena is usually found stocked with arrows, some of which often magical (+1, +2, or +3 Ammunition, DMG 150; Arrow of Slaying, DMG 152).

v1 | made by Elhessar, formatted with homebrewery